

Should I send my unwell child to school?

A guide for parents and GPs

A fever is above or equal to 37.8°C (100°F) when measured, or when the chest/back feels hotter to touch than usual

A “continuous cough” is coughing A LOT throughout the day and night, and is different from the cough that usually comes with a runny nose

Click here for further guidance on helping your unwell child.

Click here for the latest version of this flowchart

Updated 1st October 2020

Adapted from the original diagram by Dr Simon Hodes, Dr Ashley Reece and Dr Sarah Fissler, with thanks